Locums are not on a standard award level for services like most salaried medical practitioners. Locums charge their rates through invoice to the hospital. The details of those charges is exempt under section 36 – personal information of a person. Typically, an award would be provided to show the salary range of a position. As explained, this is not possible with locums. The public interest test has been applied and, on balance, matter (m) has been found to support exemption

3 The position classification, FTE, month of commencement of employment, length of contract and annual salary of FACEM’s at the Mersey Community Hospital.
