

Are you pregnant and thinking about your options?

If you are not sure how long you have been pregnant, it is a good idea to see a doctor as soon as you can.

This means you will have as many options as possible when making a decision about your pregnancy.

When thinking about your options you may want to contact one of the services listed on the back of this card.

They offer free and confidential advice, information and counselling on the full range of options, including termination of pregnancy.
